

We now offer Trazodone for those cats and dogs that might become fearful or develop increased anxiety in certain situations. It can help with placing the cat in the carrier, the car ride to the veterinarian office and for the physical exam. It is a safe drug with the most common side effect being sedation but on rare occasion can cause vomiting/diarrhea or increased agitation. It needs to be given with or without food 2 hours prior to travel. Duration of effect is variable, it usually lasts 4 to 6 hours.
